MQFF

On Wednesday 25th February we attended the Program Launch for the Melbourne Queer Film Festival.

Volkswagen, their biggest sponsor, unveiled the new Golf prior to the Motor Show which was great - this meant Marni got to show Glass's the new car (for a change).

Secret Love is listed in the program under the Celluloid Casserole shorts which are screening on Wednesday 25th March at 7.30pm at Loop Bar (Meyers Place, Melbourne CBD). Entry is a gold coin donation but you will have to get there early!

To view the MQFF program and purchase tickets to screenings, simply visit www.mqff.com.au.

(Marni, Probir, Craig & Volkswagen Eos).

Copies of Secret Love went out to all cast and crew. There are a couple more to send but please contact Marni if by chance we have missed you. Again, sorry for the delay.

TROPFEST

TropFest screened live around the country on Sunday 22nd February. We were notified by one of our friends in Sydney that Secret Love made a listing in the TropFest magazine as the magazine lists all films entered in TropFest for that year (thanks Brian for the magazine).

UPCOMING

PROJECTS:

The Things A Girl Has To Do

We have taken a step back from "The Things A Girl Has To Do" for the moment and have moved toward producing the television teaser for Emily Essex.

The search for a location proved quite easy but made difficult in terms of budget (budget being zero!). We have delayed this shoot in the hope that it will give us time to research and hunt down some sponsors! If anyone is interested in sponsoring us for the shoot, please contact us asap!

We are hoping to shoot this fantastic short sometime in June 2009.

EMILY ESSEX

Emily's on Facebook!

Our famous and stunning Emily is on Facebook! Please do not hesitate to locate her and request her as a friend. We want EVERYONE to get to know Emily so go ahead and introduce yourselves!

We are shooting our teaser for Emily in the next couple of weeks. A minimum crew is involved but if you think you can assist, simply email marni@rokstarrfilms.com and we will be happy to give you something to do! (if not on Emily, then perhaps another project?)

BEHIND THE SCENES-

DO YOU TWITTER?

RSF has made its way to Twitter! A new social web browser that is currently expanding its way beyond the powers of Facebook (or so they say!). Free to register, check us out on Twitter and Facebook but if you want to read our scripts, please visit (and don't forget about):
